SUBMISSION FORM – AUTHOR INFORMATION, OPEN SCIENCE AND IDEIA

Last updated: 03/03/2026
Manuscript Title: Towards a Humanized Border Governance in Africa: Protecting Vulnerable Migrants and Displaced Persons (The Cases of Morocco, Algeria, Tunisia, and Libya)
Research Group Name:

Thematic Axis to which the article belongs (choose one of the 4 options):

( ) Thematic Axis 1 – Law, Democracy and Social Justice
Articles addressing social justice, vulnerabilities, gender inequality, incarceration and public health from the perspective of fundamental rights and the ethics of care. Selection favors a critical and humanizing approach to the role of the State and society.

( ) Thematic Axis 2 – Constitution, Institutions and Democracy in Brazil
Brings together articles dealing with the functioning of democratic institutions, the Judiciary, constitutional and infra-constitutional legislation, and national and international normative frameworks related to citizenship, democratic culture and rights.

( ) Thematic Axis 3 – Law, Technology and Society in Transformation
This section includes articles that critically analyze the intersections between Law, technology and contemporary social transformations. Topics include personal data protection, artificial intelligence, algorithmic racism, abusive advertising directed at children, and the challenges of protecting personality rights in cyberspace. Priority is given to contributions that engage with fundamental rights and promote a critical reflection on the impacts of emerging technologies on social, legal and institutional dynamics. Interdisciplinary, critical approaches committed to social justice and digital ethics are valued.

(X) International Article
Texts authored by researchers with an institutional affiliation abroad (affiliated with foreign institutions) or with a predominantly international theme, approach and academic dialogue, contributing directly to the internationalization of Pensar. The journal publishes in Portuguese, English, Spanish, Italian and French, enabling this section in different languages.

Notes:
If accepted, the Editors-in-Chief may, at their editorial discretion, reassign the manuscript to another Thematic Axis when this improves alignment with the journal's scope and editorial organization.

PART 5 – PREPRINTS

https://ojs.unifor.br/rpen/preprins

Preprints are versions of scientific articles that have not yet undergone peer review within a journal's editorial process, or that have already been reviewed but whose final publication has not yet been completed. These texts may be made available in recognized repositories without affecting the novelty/originality of the research.

Authors who have already made their manuscripts available in preprint repositories (such as SSRN, Zenodo, SciELO Preprints, among others) may submit them to the journal, provided they clearly inform, at the time of submission, the access link and the deposited version.

The decision to deposit (or not) a preprint is entirely up to the author(s) and does not positively or negatively affect the evaluation process conducted by the Editorial Team.

Is the submitted article a preprint?
[ ] Yes – Name of the preprint server:
